STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The barn that is now on J. Hammett's property was once part of the same farm as CT-270. Although it has received many additions and alterations (fire destroyed southeast corner) the barn still retains hewn uprights and braces. That portion of the frame can be seen as at least contemporary with the R. Hutchins house.

Additional significance is found in the fact that the siding on the east end is local cypress. It was put on in the 1940's and is some of the last cypress lumber to have been taken from the swamp.
